

Fixed Networks and Services

research.analysys.com

The industry-leading online resource for information on the European fixed telecoms sector. It provides data, analysis and forecasts of companies, country markets, and technological and commercial trends across Western and Central & Eastern Europe. It is a regularly updated, interactive online service, providing authoritative information and analysis for all your fixed market intelligence needs.

Information → Interpretation → Insight

The Complete Service

Subscription to Analysys Research Fixed Networks and Services provides you not only with quality in-depth information but also with up-to-date strategic insight and analysis. The service components include country and company profiles, market forecasts, reports and presentations, market trends papers, analyst time and briefings, events and networking. The components all fully integrate allowing you to create and build your own complete market intelligence service, providing you with all the expertise and knowledge for your chosen industry sector.

The service will help you:

- identify and interpret the most significant trends and innovations in the fixed telecoms and ISP marketplace
- analyse the strategic and financial position of all the major players in the European fixed telecoms and ISP sectors
- follow the latest commercial and regulatory developments in all major European national markets
- forecast spend and penetration of fixed services in European markets
- place European fixed telecoms players in a global context
- keep abreast of the complex patterns of mergers, acquisitions and alliances in the fixed telecoms sector.

Contact Us:

For further information, a guided demonstration and prices, please contact our sales and customer service team on +44 (0)1223 460600, or email research@analysys.com.

Fixed Networks and Services

Contents

Country reports

30 key national markets across Europe are profiled, giving you valuable insight into the differing national fixed telecoms environments. Each report includes numerical market data and a full financial sizing, analysis of the key player strategy, market shares of incumbents and other players, analysis of the fixed telephony and Internet markets, and a review of regulation.

Market trends

Monthly reports provide you with authoritative insight into important new commercial, technological and regulatory trends in the fixed networks and services market.

Country market forecasts

The service contains forecasts for the 16 largest markets in Europe and an overall forecast for Western Europe. These provide breakdowns of spend on individual services at different kinds of site, plus service and line penetration forecasts for different technologies. Each forecast contains over 100 data series, giving you valuable insight into how markets will evolve over the coming years.

Company profiles

The service delivers comprehensive coverage of operators and ISPs across Europe. This includes 80 extended profiles and 115 standard profiles – all fully reviewed every three months – of fixed network operators and ISPs in markets across Europe. They include insightful analysis of company strategies, breakdowns of financial and operating data, plus information on their networks and the products and services they offer.

Company listings

The service comes complete with over 3000 company listings of fixed telecoms players across the world.

Broadband Area

In order to keep you abreast of developments in this critical area of fixed telecoms, the service gives you quarterly updates on penetration of different technologies and of the market shares of all the broadband players in individual markets. In addition a broadband pricing benchmark survey gives continuously updated information on pricing of over 800 broadband services across Europe and the USA and retail VoIP pricing for 80 series.

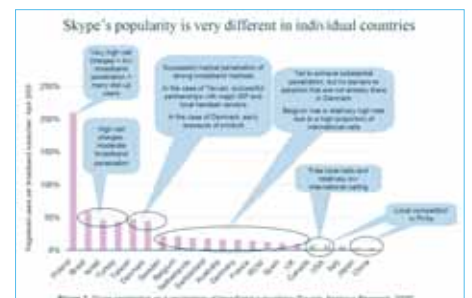

Analyst support

The Analyst Support service provides you with a deeper understanding of any of the topics or issues covered in any of the reports or online databases. It allows you direct consultation with the author of a report or online database, giving you the opportunity to ask any questions or to discuss assumptions.

Reports

A number of related reports are regularly produced throughout the subscription period and can be included with Analysys Research Fixed Networks and Services. The reports deal in depth with the latest market trends and technological innovations affecting this market.

Interactive features

A sophisticated range of interactive search and download features is provided as standard across all Analysys Research services.

These tools include:

- Search facilities
- Benchmarking
- Save search criteria
- Downloads contacts facility

Analysys is part of the Analysys Mason Group, the leading telecoms specialist able to provide both strategy and implementation consultancy, together with research and market intelligence services.